AUTOIST HELD IMPROPER RISK ON APPEAL

Cancellation by the Globe Insurance Co. of the compulsory automobile insurance policy of Dean Leahy of 25 Hulse st., Endbury, on the ground that Leahy is an "improper risk," was upheld today by the state board of appeal.

Attorney Homer R. Kelley, for the company, told the board that on the night of April 17, Leahy's machine was in collision with another machine at the Cottage Farm bridge. He claimed that Leahy's machine struck the other car while attempting to pass on the right side.

Through testimony of two occupants of the machine which Leahy's car was alleged to have struck, Atty. Kelley attempted to establish that Leahy was under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The witnesses in Leahy's defense refused to allow them to smell his breath and "fell while trying to ride" his car.

HIS LIP SPLIT, SHIRT TORN; BEATEN BY GANG, HE SAYS

On complaint of John J. Vadevour, of Blue Hill ave., a traffic officer of division 29, who exhibited a split lip and a shirt torn to ribbons to substantiate his charges, Chief Justice Boston, in municipal court today, issued warrants for the arrest of Lambert Mercucci, 29, of Hull st., North End.

Two complaints charging assault and battery on Vadevour and operating an automobile so as to endanger lives and safety of the public were issued as a result of a melee in Keaney sq., North End, following an automobile collision.

Vadevour, whose wife, Mrs. Bertha Vadevour, testified in corroboration of his statements, took action on instructions from his superior officer, Capt. Bernard J. Hoppe of Div. 20, who was in court.

The policeman testified that he was off duty yesterday, and was driving his car, containing his wife and friends, through Keaney sq., when it was struck by a machine operated by Mercucci. Vadevour said he got out of his car to determine whether any damage had been caused, when Mercucci struck him in the mouth. The policeman said that as he turned to defend himself, five or six young men who had been standing on the sidewalk, ran into the street and jumped on him. Vadevour said he was fighting one-handed against the gang, when Mrs. Zera Mercucci, 47-year-old mother of Lambert, stepped into the melee and was struck in the chest.

Following the mixup Mrs. Mercucci and her son went to the Haymarket Relief hospital, where Lambert was treated for a split lip.

BOY, 8, AND PASTOR SAVE GIRL OF 6 AT BRAINTREE

EX-FOLLIES GIRL TO WED

CHILD WAS PUSHED INTO WATER BY HER PLAYMATE

A playful push given her by one of a group of playmates nearly cost Elaine Weeks, six, of Washington st., South Braintree, her life today and at the same time made Melvin McPhee, eight, of Hancock st., South Braintree, and Rev. C. L. Feener, pastor of the South Braintree Congregational Church, heroes in a rescue.

The little girl with a dozen playmates had been on a float all morning and in some manner it drifted to the middle of Alsos lake. During a game of Capt. Kid, Elaine was pushed off and fell into 40 feet of water.

Noticing her plight and realizing she was unable to swim, young McPhee dived into the water after her. He managed to hold her above the surface until the Rev. Mr. Feener, who had been aroused by the screams of the children, managed to reach them.

When Rev. Mr. Feener heard the cries, he was of the opinion that the children were simply at play, but when the screams continued unabated he rushed to the water and dived in fully clothed.

The weeks girl was carried ashore unconscious, but was revived by Lloyd Hamilton of Trayer Academy. Young McPhee announced to the group, "I'm all right," and left the scene.

FIRE IN TRUCK HALTS QUINCY TRAFFIC

Traffic was tied up and the odor of burning rubber caused pedestrians to quit the vicinity of Hancock st. and Marquette Park, Quincy, today when a five-ton truck loaded with junked auto tires caught fire.

The tires and the body of the truck were destroyed. Joseph Levine of Summer st., Quincy, owned and drove the truck.

A spark, evidently from the muffler, started the fire burning and Levine drove along unaware of the fire until autoists told him.

Levine stopped and pulled a fire alarm. By the time the engines reached the scene the smoke had filled the district, and made breathing difficult for hundreds.

The boy had been despondent because of failure to be graduated with his class. He had been refused his diploma because he had not turned in a thesis.

On the possibility that the boy may have taken the poison in mistake for champagne, a further examination is being conducted. A verdict of "death by suicide" is rendered.

ACCUSE POLICE IN GLOUCESTER RUM TRIAL

Last enforcement of liquor laws by Gloucester police was charged today in Federal court by Asst. U. S. Atty. Stone in a recommendation to Judge Elkins II. Brewer for heavy penalties on two confessed bootleggers of that city.

Carlton C. Thompson and Thomas H. Gossard, employees of a Commercial at restaurant, were each sentenced to four months at Springfield jail on their guilty plea to indictments charging them with several sales of liquor to prohibition agents.

The U. S. Atty. E. H. Tarr, a resident of Rockport, with officers in Gloucester, was personally investigating bootlegging traffic was disclosed by the statement of Stone that his superior described the lunchroom as a place of very bad repute.

"Prohibition agents brought as much as they wished from Thompson and Gossard," Stone asserted, "and the Gloucester police were indifferent to the liquor sold in the lunchroom."

The appearance of the two defendants in court followed a series of liquor raids in Gloucester by a squad of 20 federal agents, whose presence in the city was unprecedented to the local authorities.

FRANCE GIVES YELLOW BIRDS ACCLAIM

Paris, June 16 (AP)—The crew of the transatlantic mailboat Yellow Bird will be received at the Chamber of Deputies, the Senate and the Hotel de Ville, tomorrow, the highest honor that a French man can receive.

Of all the honors accorded them, however, a reception today by M. Louis-Ernest, air minister, probably gave the fliers the greatest satisfaction. The minister had refused to encourage or recognize the Yellow Bird's attempt. It was said at the ministry even after the report from Old Orford, Me., that the flight succeeded. It would prove nothing and that the ministry frowned at all such attempt with machines not fitted with floats.

It was only at the last minute when the fliers' arrival was only a matter of an hour or so that the minister decided he could no longer refuse to give the official recognition of their success. Today's visit did not mean that the government has changed its viewpoint as to transatlantic flights by other than water planes, however, but it amounts to official recognition of the fliers' performance.

Arthur Schreiber of Portland, Me., who stood away on the Yellow Bird and made the flight to Spain, will be sent home Thursday on either the Leviathan of the President Harding.

Finds Europeans Are Being Americanized

New York, June 16 (AP)—Homer Saint-Gaudens, director of fine arts of Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, returning today to the Ile de France from a trip abroad, said Europe was rapidly becoming Americanized.

The Europeans, taking the heat of American goods, and adding to them what is best of their own, pass us in the matter of living. Saint-Gaudens said, "The European knows how to enjoy life more than we do."

A Europe more people visit the art galleries and art is discussed more in the newspapers and at afternoon teas, said Saint-Gaudens, whose trip was to obtain European representation of paintings in the Carnegie international exhibition to be held in Pittsburgh in September.

He visited artists in Great Britain, France, Italy, Spain, Germany, Russia, Sweden, Belgium, Holland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, and Switzerland, all of which will be represented in the international exhibition.

The battle of the traditional and modernist in European art, said Saint-Gaudens, and the extreme of both sides are licked. What is coming out of the battle is a group of artists who do not cling to tradition and who do not just try to express themselves, but the life about them.

DIVORCE STYLE IN HOLLAND IS SET BY ROGERS

(Copyright, 1926, by Universal Service, Inc.)

Paris, June 15.—Staid Holland is to replace Paris as the mecca of discontented Americans desiring a change in their marital status. If society follows the lead of Mrs. Henry H. Rogers, wife of the oil multimillionaire, whose case is pending in the Utrecht court, divorce mills—as well as wind mills—loom as a prospective industry in the Netherlands.

A well-known Hollander, Hendrik Van Loon, is credited with this important social discovery, which is regarded as likely to attract to his country the attention which, under the Parisian divorce investigation last year, was concentrated on the French capital.

It was Van Loon, according to Paris gossip, who informed Mrs. Rogers, who had obtained a divorce in Holland by the principles of the famous code of Napoleon, which, until recently, operated in Paris so liberally to the benefit of wealthy Americans dissatisfied with their married life.

Rocket Will Take You to See Man in Moon

Paris, June 18 (INS).—A new route for tourist agencies to look for—round trip to the moon.

It is possible now, at least, a new rocket machine has just been invented which the Astronomical Society of France finds practical.

The inter-planetary vehicle was planned by Prof. Hermann Oberth, a German professor teaching at a university. He has been awarded the Hertz prize for astronomy by the French society.

The coach and four which will conduct passengers on this little journey is a rocket propelled by jets of hydrogen gas at such a speed that it will outstrip the force of gravity.

The trip will be short—about three and a half hours—allowing the excursionists time to see a little of the neighborhood in which they land before they return to mother earth.

Trips to Venus, which will take about two days, will be added to the itinerary when a few more scientific details are worked out.

When the passengers arrive at the moon, they will have the slight inconvenience of wearing oxygen gas masks, for the moon is dead and airless.

At the moment, the rocket is in the hands of the French government, which is studying the possibilities of its use.

POWER TRUST IS SAWYER ISSUE

With the power trust as its main issue, Rep. Roland D. Sawyer of New York, a clergyman, today declared himself a possible nominee in the 1930 Democratic primary either for Governor of N. Y. or Senator.

In his statement, Sawyer touched on the tariff and immigration questions but in particular criticized the appointments to the power trust investigation committee made by President Casper G. Bacon of Senate and Speaker Leavelle S. Henson of the House. Sawyer declared:

"The outlook for Democratic success in this state at the next election is splendid. The Republican party in the federal Congress and in the state government have by its conduct made the Republican party weaker today in Massachusetts than it was a year ago when Smith carried the state."

The federal action in regard to the national origins matter, failure of the Massachusetts delegation to bulk big in the tariff discussion and their failure to protect against the new law making naturalization more difficult and more costly, is bound to injure the G. O. P. in this state.

SAWYER SALTONSTALL

In the state government Speaker Saltonstall showed in sensible failure in not placing Mr. Shattuck and Mr. Brainerd on the power investigating committee.

This failure is particularly noticeable following the warning and prophecy made by Martin Hays at the opening of the legislative session.

"President Bacon, in enacting the municipal lighting bill through Senate action, showed himself a friend of the power trust. This question will be a big issue in the next campaign and these legislative failures by Republican leaders will be a bad for their party to carry."

"Chances for Democratic victory are so fine that I expect to be a candidate in the Democratic primary either for United States Senator or the governorship."

Fashion is Important in Women's Footwear

Fashion in footwear is of such comparatively recent origin, and its various phases are frequently so vigorously exploited that even the initiated may find themselves bewildered.

It is no simple task to discriminate between the real and the unreal. Beauty of design or material is not in itself fashion. Costliness is no guarantee of fashion rightness. Novelty is usually merely a fad.

So the function of interpreting fashion's dictates into beautiful, wearable slippers has become a highly specialized business entirely distinct from all other branches of the footwear field. During the past few years in the larger cities of the country a new type of store has opened its doors, frankly addressing itself only to those women to whom fashion and quality are essential considerations. These are not shoe stores at all, as that term is usually understood. They do not even make a pretense of catering to all the shoe needs of the community. The work of supplying plain or corrective types of shoes, for example, is left for other to do.

The more crude methods of shoemaking have no place in this new scheme of things. Only hand-turning, by skilled craftsmen, produces the type of footwear required. Materials before undreamed of for footwear are used. Shoes are merely shoes no longer. They have become things of real beauty imparting utter individuality to whatever feet they adorn.

Boston had one of the first of these new shops: Pierre's on Bowdoin St. Now only a little over three years old, its clientele already comprises the names of the season of the most fashionable women of the city. But its appeal is not limited to Boston by any means. Before the shop was a year old it could trace its slippers into all the important countries of the world. Frequently now you may observe wardrobes of slippers being selected by those who are preparing for European travel. Certainly, there is never a social event of importance now that does not have Pierre slippers beautifying the feet of many of the gathering. Recently in the dye room of the store more than one hundred pair of slippers were being tinted for sixteen weddings.

The variety from which one may choose at Pierre's is astonishing. More than twenty lines of blue kid shoes are shown in several shades; thirteen styles in green, eleven in red and twelve in violet, canary, pink, shantung, linen, embroidered, woven leather, pettinet—endless it seems. The details of fine workmanship on some of these models captures the enthusiasm immediately.

To really appreciate the wonders fine craftsmanship can achieve with leather, one should see the new slippers Pierre has provided for the devotees of the bare leg vogue. Sleek opera pumps in two shades of blue, two shades of green, yellow, pink white, kid and pettinet, shantung, lined throughout with heavy lustrous satin in complimentary tones. Although it is hard to believe, no model is more than $12.50.

Bunking in Wrong Bed Lands Youth in Court

Afraid to go home and seeking a place to bunk out, Joe De Veaux, 16, of Charlestown got himself and two companions who were trying to aid him into a serious predicament. They were caught at their stunts and as a result all three were held for the grand jury in $100 by Judge Sullivan in the district court. The charge was breaching and entering.

Vincent White and James Donovan were not afraid to go home, because they knew a way to "skin" in. But with their comrades it was different. Constantly De Veaux picked out a house on Bedford st. where the second floor was unoccupied. He got inside, but found nothing to sleep on except the floor. So he went to the floor above, where members of the family were away and selected a couch. This was transferred to the empty flat and soon De Veaux was in the land of nod.

But it was not for long. When his comrades stepped out to the sidewalk they walked into the arms of a police officer who had been watching them for some time.

He was convicted yesterday on his confession that he killed James Parks, his roommate, for a promise of $10,000 of insurance money. Mrs. J. C. Powers, their landlady, expected to collect on the young printer's life.

Meanwhile, the 21-year-old landlady awaited trial on a charge of being an accessory before the fact. Authorities deluged into Mrs. Powers' past in an effort to connect her with what they described as a chain of "insurance murder plots." She was known to have held parties on the lives of several men who have died or disappeared mysteriously. Her trial is scheduled for next week.

CAPTAIN STAYS WITH HIS SHIP; CREW SAVED

Astoria, Ore., June 18 (AP)—Determined to salvage half of his ship if possible, Louis Johnson, captain of the ill-fated steamer Laurel, still remained aboard the wreck today playing a game of "freedom" against a pounding sea after spurning the pleas of coast guardsmen to come ashore.

Weighted on Peacock Spit, "the graveyard of ships," at the mouth of the Columbia river, the larger portion of the Laurel held only the gritty captain after 30 members of her crew had been taken off in groups. One of the crew, Russell Smith, 18, of Worcester, Mass., was swept from the bridge to his death shortly after the ship ran aground in a storm.

Coast Guardsmen tried to take Capt. Johnson off but he refused to go. The would-be rescuers left him warm and dry with access through a skylight to the galley where he could obtain food and water. Last night the Portland agents for the States line, owners of the Laurel, issued orders to Capt. Johnson to relinquish the vessel and come ashore.

"Stealing Bases" in U. S. COURT FREES TWO

Milton Costs Two Men $10 Fine

Stealing bases usually is hailed as courageous and sportsmanlike in a ball game, but such an act in the legal sense brought forth a court fine today in the Quins court before Judge Kenneth L. Nash. Joseph Porter, 24, and Nante DeBelmont, 12, both of River st., Boston, were fined $10 on a charge of stealing the baseball bases from the public playground in Milton.

Anonymous "tips" alleged of liquor violations are insufficient evidence without search warrants on which to justify raids, Judge William H. Brewer ruled today in Federal Court in quashing an indictment against two Rutland men.

John Hall, chief of the Worcester County Probation Department, said he visited the Rutland premises in April to investigate complaints of liquor traffic resulting from "anonymous communications."

He said he had no details when he approached and proceeded to search a barn, where he found "Hall did not have enough evidence to justify a search," he said on a warrant. Judge Brewer de-

September for this marriage ceremony.

"They aren't married, all an AI agent," they decided to have because Lieke Arnold is first of a very young bride who lives in Groton, Ct, was never properly divorced.

Betting Is Even on Opening Harvard-Yale Game Today

TY WISHES OLD BOSS GOOD LUCK

WHITMORE IN BOX FOR COMMONS

By TED LYNCH
New Haven, Ct., June 18.—Another Harvard-Yale baseball series gets under way at Yale Field this afternoon when a fair-to-middlelin Yale nine plays host to a middle-to-fair Harvard aggregation. It is the first game of a two-game series, the second battle being scheduled for Cambridge tomorrow afternoon.

Neither Harvard nor Yale is entering a world-beater in the late this year. However, the fact does not take the edge of these annual contests, for in their respective mediocrity both teams are evenly matched. All betting around the Commons was at even-steps shortly before game-time.

Harvard practiced here on Monday evening and at the conclusion of this pre-game warmup, Coach Fred Mitchell announced to the press that Howard Whitmore, a right-hander from Newton, would be Harvard's starting pitcher. Coach Ho Wood of Yale came back with the announcement that he, too, is calling on a right-hander, Jeff Sawyer.

While betting is even on today's battle, Yale has been placed as the 10-to-8 shot to cup the series. The speculative element here feels that Mitchell has a one-man pitching staff and feel that Yale will pound Red McLean, Harvard's starting hurler, long before all over the 1 1/2 hour game.

It was the 10-to-8 bet for Yale on the second battle, is the best of the 211 bets and would even, outside Sawyer's performance this afternoon.
